

Solicitor Disclosure Letter

Dear Client,

I am enclosing a copy of the current Form ADV Part 2A of Creative Capitalists, Inc. This is the firm's disclosure brochure under the Investment Advisers Act and required by the state of California, Department of Business Oversight to be provided to any client or prospective client before establishing a relationship with the firm as your investment adviser.

This is to inform you that while I am not employed or affiliated in any way with the firm, other than as described in this letter, I have assisted the firm in presenting the advisory services offered by the firm and have or may also assist in establishing and maintaining your client relationship with the firm.

According to an agreement between myself and the firm, the firm will pay to me 10% of its investment management fee for the duration of your advisory relationship with the firm.

The compensation paid to me by the firm is for the solicitation services and for referring you to the firm and covers any expenses for these efforts.

The solicitation services include making any introductions and providing information/materials about the advisory services and programs of the firm. Other services may include periodic contacts about investment performance, reviews, or other information as may be requested or required to assist in understanding the firm's services or establishing an advisory relationship or providing/updating client information on behalf of the Adviser. In no event will the services include providing investment advisory services in any manner.

The compensation for these services is paid completely by the firm from the investment advisory fees earned, which are not increased or passed along to a client in any way; therefore, there is no increase in the advisory fees you will pay to the Adviser.

If you should have any questions about these relationships, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Joshua Johnson, EA

Please sign, date, and return the attached copy of this letter to me to acknowledge receipt of the Form ADV Part 2A and this Solicitor's Disclosure Document. This will confirm that you have received this information and are informed about the solicitor fee arrangement between the firm and myself as described above.
